Trip summary

Historically the Himalaya was a patchwork of small kingdoms from one end to the other. Over time many were swallowed up in the formation of larger countries and in so doing very often the uniqueness of their cultures was lost. Bhutan thankfully survived intact due to the foresight of its rulers, and because its natural defences made it a very difficult country to invade. Not only does it have a solid wall of mighty Himalayan peaks in the north, but its foothills rise straight up from the plains of India and were easily defended. It was unified in the early 1600's by one of the most powerful personages in Himalayan history, Shabdrung Nawang Namgyal, whose red hat sect of Tibetan Buddhism still flourishes to this day. He built magnificent monastery/fortresses, introduced a rule of law, and defeated Tibetan invaders by use of black magic.

So it is today that the customs and traditions are as strong as ever, and the people still wear colourful national costume, and live in architecturally distinct houses more akin to Swiss chalets. The dragon sect of Tibetan Buddhism is central to all that they do, and they adore their royal family. They believe in non-violence, preservation of nature, and actively promote policies of sustainability and conservation. They are proud to be a carbon negative country and strictly enforce laws to protect their massive pristine forests.

When people visit Bhutan they go not just to view the highest unclimbed peak in the world and its family of satellite peaks, but more to experience the people and their fabulous culture. Recognising this, the government has approved a number of farmhouse homestays so that people can experience first hand daily life of rural Bhutanese families. These homestays offer simple accommodation but a chance to meet local people and provide an authentic experience of life in Bhutan. This holiday spends several nights in village homestays where meals may be taken with the families. In some cases you can try the hot stone baths, and perhaps play some archery, and look around the farms. This is just part of a walking holiday that includes hikes to temples, explores Bhutan's unique dzongs and townships and visits the lesser-known valleys of Haa and Phobjika. For an added bonus, we have also included a visit to the impressive Paro Tsechu - one of the most significant and flamboyant festivals in Bhutan

As a climax you take a two day trek to see Taktsang cliff temple. Most people visiting Bhutan approach the Tiger's Nest temple from below as a return day hike. You take a much more special route camping overnight at Bumdra Lhakhang before descending to Taktsang. This is part of a pilgrimage route that locals use to gain merit in their search for enlightenment and provides a fitting climax to this varied adventure in the Kingdom of the Thunder Dragon.

Special notes

Flights between Kathmandu and Paro

Please note that there is the small possibility that flight schedules between Kathmandu and Paro could change in the coming months. This may result in alterations to the itinerary and/or the dates of travel.

Your trip itinerary

Day 1: Depart London.

Fly overnight from London to Kathmandu.

Overnight: In flight

Day 2: Arrive Kathmandu. Group transfer to hotel.

On arrival in Kathmandu you will be met at the airport and transferred to your hotel. Later in the evening you may want to try out one of the many restaurants in nearby Thamel - the heart of the main tourist area in Kathmandu.

Overnight: Hotel Shanker or Similar, Kathmandu

Day 3: Fly to Paro. Drive to Thimphu, 65 km - 1 hour.

Transfer to the airport for the short flight up to Bhutan. On a clear day the panoramic views of the Himalaya are sensational, including Everest and Kangchenjunga, but particularly exciting is the approach through the Bhutanese foothills and the landing, including a few steep turns to land at the tiny airstrip of Paro. Although you are at the mercy of the airline computer, if possible try to sit on the left hand side of the plane for the most spectacular views.

In Paro you will be met by your Bhutanese guide and will drive to Thimphu (65 km). En route you can stop to visit Tamchog Lakhang, a temple built in the 14th century. To reach it you have to walk across one of the ancient bridges built by the famous 'Iron Bridge' builder Thangtong Gyalpo. Thangtong Gyalpo was a great Buddhist master and also a pioneering civil engineer of the 15th century who is said to have built 58 iron chain suspension bridges around Tibet. He is often portrayed holding a section of iron chain in his right hand. This is just a short walk of about 15 minutes and the temple has a wonderful atmosphere of old Bhutan and is a lovely place to visit.

There should be time for some sightseeing in Thimphu depending on the flight schedule. Thimphu has an attractive valley location and is relatively small for a capital city although it has grown greatly in recent years. There are many places of interest to visit there. Initially you might like to drive up to see the giant Buddha figure and enjoy the views over the town.

Overnight: Phuntso Pelri Hotel or Similar, Thimphu (Meals: BLD)

Day 4: In and around Thimphu

This morning you will drive up to Sangaygang next to the Bhutan First Broadcasting Service tower, located in the North West of Thimphu. It is only about a mile drive up to the tower so if you feel like you would like to burn a bit more energy you can always walk up instead. From the tower you will have great views over Thimphu Dzong and the Thimphu valley as you start your walk contouring the beautiful hills to visit Wangditse Gompa. This walk should take around 1½ hours. You will have time to visit the gompa before you walk down for another 30 minutes to reach Dechen Phodrang Monastery. This monastery houses around 450 student monks enrolled in an 8 year course. The monastery is also home to some fantastic UNESCO monitored 12th century paintings. You will then meet your vehicle and be driven back to Thimphu.

In the afternoon there will be time to enjoy some sightseeing. There are many places of interest to visit in Thimphu, including the Tashichhodzong (the main government buildings), the Textile Museum, the Heritage Museum, the late King's Memorial Chorten, the National Library, the School of Painting and the silversmiths and pottery workshops. The Government Handicrafts Emporium is possibly the best place to look for local handicrafts. It is interesting to visit the handmade paper workshop to see the paper being made and there are some nice items made from handmade paper for sale there. You could also visit the Post Office to buy some of Bhutan's very attractive stamps, they will even print a valid stamp with your face on it while you wait! They also have good t-shirts on sale. While in Thimphu you might also like to visit the 'zoo'. This is in fact a very large enclosure (several acres) just above the town, containing only Takin, the very rare animal found exclusively in Bhutan and parts of China and possibly one of the most quirky and strangest looking animals you will ever see.

Overnight: Phuntso Pelri Hotel or Similar, Thimphu (Meals: BLD)

Day 5: Drive over the Dochu La to Punakha - 77 km, 3 hours. Visit Punakha Dzong. Three Temples Walk in the Jibjokha Valley - 4-5 hours.

After breakfast you will drive east to Punakha. Leaving Thimphu you climb to cross the Dochu La Pass, 3,109m/10,200ft, a spot marked by 108 chortens. Here, weather permitting, you may take in a magnificent mountain vista. You descend from the pass into the lush Punakha Valley then drive to Punakha Dzong. This is one of the most spectacular and important dzongs in the kingdom as well as being one of the most picturesque. It is situated at the confluence of two rivers - the Mo Chu and the Pho Chu. Damaged by flooding in 1994, the dzong has now been beautifully renovated and is a real showcase for Bhutanese craftsmanship and painting. You are normally allowed into the dzong unless there are VIPs visiting.

From Punkakha Dzong you make the short drive to the Jibjokha Valley to do the Three Temples walk. This is a new, circular, day walk in three scenic valleys that follows undulating paths and tracks through picturesque, open farmland, shady woods and vast rice terraces. In the autumn, these terraces can appear to glow with a golden hue as the sunlight hits the rice stalks swaying in the wind. There's not too much ascent and no steep climbs so it's an opportunity for a gentle walk to see traditional village life in rural Bhutan. It is a walk that was created for Mountain Kingdoms so don't expect to see other westerners on the trail.

Walking from the Kuenga Zhedheyling farmhouse you pass through the rice terraces, soon encountering your first temple (or lakhang) at the tiny settlement of Jibjokha. There are some interesting statues to see here. As you progress, your guide will point out Pangtse Shing (Symplocus) trees near the trail. This tree has many medicinal benefits and is also used for dyes and for the oil from its seeds which is prized in Bhutanese cuisine. In spring you will see the trees in flower and then the fruits appear in the autumn when the oil is extracted. Your hike continues through fields into the Wangkha Valley where you will find your second temple built 40 years ago by the locals. After leaving the lakhang you will come across the house of Aum Karma Dem and may be able to rest awhile in her front garden and enjoy a cup of tea. Continuing on through more terraces the trail then enters some woods providing welcome shade if the weather is warm. At the end of the woods you reach a feeder 'road' leading into the Dawakha Valley. This valley is much more populated than the others. The main village here is Dawakha, which sits on high ground affording good views of the surrounding hills and valleys. This is the home of the third temple of the walk. There is also a shop in the village so you may be able to grab a cold drink before setting off downhill on a wooded track to get back to Jibjokha. After your walk you drive to your accommodation.

Overnight: Lotay's Farmhouse Homestay, Punakha (Meals: BLD)

Day 6: Drive to Gangtey, 78 km - 3 hours. Visit the Black-necked crane information centre and Gangtey Dzong. Walk in the Gangtey Valley.

After breakfast you will drive to Gangtey, 78kms away, which takes around 3-4 hours. From Punakha you drive down the valley to the town of Wangdiphodrang whose massive and important dzong unfortunately burnt down in 2012. It is now being reconstructed. You drive through the few houses which mark the former township of Wangdi and on up the beautiful wooded valley of the Dang Chu River and turn off to arrive at the Gangtey Valley.

Gangtey, also properly known as the Phobjikha valley, is a beautiful glacial valley, wide, wooded and unspoilt. It is particularly famous as a major wintering ground for Black Necked Cranes, which arrive here late October and stay until early spring before heading back to their breeding grounds in Tibet and Siberia. These birds are particularly respected in local culture and feature in local tradition as 'heavenly birds'. You should have time to visit the fine 17th century Gangtey Gumpa and then on to the Black-necked crane information centre. You then may have the chance for a pleasant walk in the Gangtey Valley.

Overnight: Farmhouse Homestay, Gangtey Valley (Meals: BLD)

Day 7: Walk in the Phobjika Valley.

The Phobjika Valley has glorious scenery and some lovely small villages and temples which you may visit. There is a network of footpaths through woods and meadows of the valley and a number of different walks are possible here; your guide will suggest a suitable one for your group. He will also no doubt regale you with some of the tales and legends of the valley including stories about two different types of yeti, a large one and a small one, which are rumoured to be found here.

Overnight: Farmhouse Homestay, Gangtey Valley (Meals: BLD)

Day 8: Drive to Dochu La Pass. Walk from the pass. Continue to Thimphu

From your homestay you drive up over the pass leading out of the 'hidden' valley of Phobjikha and down to Wangdiphodrang. Passing through the town you cross the river and proceed along the valley before the long climb through dense forest which leads towards the Dochu La Pass, 3,109m/10,200ft.

You will take a lovely walk of about 4 hours from the pass and rejoin your transport further down along the road to Thimphu. This is a pleasant trail which takes you up the ridge in rhododendron forest to Lungchezekha Gompa, from where there are further fantastic mountain views. Your trail then descends in beautiful mixed forest, passing Tashigang Gompa to emerge at the road at Hongthso, where you will meet your transport. You then drive to Thimphu.

Overnight: Phuntso Pelri Hotel or Similar, Thimphu (Meals: BLD)

Day 9: Return drive to Paro, 65km - 1 hour. Attend the Paro Tsechu. Sightseeing in the Paro valley.

You drive back to Paro this morning and head straight to the Dzong so that you can spend some time at the Paro Tsechu - one of the biggest and most important festivals in Bhutan

Tsechus are colourful festivals of music and ceremonial dance staged in honour of Guru Rinpoche. They commemorate his great deeds, all believed to have taken place on the tenth day of the month - the meaning of the word, Tsechu. Such festivals are primarily religious but they are also a rare opportunity for the people to come together in all their finery to socialise, celebrate and have fun. The Bhutanese believe that they will achieve merit by attending the festival and by watching the masked dances and the event draws people in from far and wide.

Later you may visit the ancient temple of Kyichu Lhakang, one of the oldest in Bhutan. This lachang was one of 108 temples so legend has it, built by Songtsen Gampo an important early Tibetan king, to pin down the Bon demon that was thought to hover over the whole of Tibet. Returning down the valley you might also visit the Ta Dzong. This 17th century circular building houses Bhutan's National Museum and has recently undergone a major restoration. The museum has a fantastic collection of Bhutanese national treasures with displays including depictions of a wide range of Bhutan's history and culture and an impressive collection of ancient thangkas featuring Bhutan's important saints and teachers. You will also find some fearsome festival masks, a collection of religious statues, some early stone carvings and the original iron links from the nearby Tamchhog Bridge.

Overnight: Hotel Olathang or Similar, Paro (Meals: BLD)

Day 10: Drive over the Chele La Pass to Haa, 2,950m/9,700ft, 65 kms - 2 hours.

Today you leave the Paro Valley to drive over the Chele La Pass to Haa. On the way to the pass you will pay a visit to the temple of Dzong Drakha, a beautiful cliff temple spectacularly located on a broad ledge with vertical limestone cliffs above and below. There are lovely views from here. You will also visit Kila Nunnery located just below the pass.

Continuing up to the Chele La, a pass at 3,990m/13,090ft, in clear weather you will have wonderful views of the snow capped mountains to the west which mark the border with Tibet. You then descend on a long, long zig-zag road down into the Haa Valley. As you approach you will notice three almost identical conical hills in a line on the other side of the valley. These are believed by the locals to be the physical manifestations of three very important Buddhist saints. The left one is Manjushri (the god who holds the flaming sword which cuts the knot of ignorance), the middle one is Chenrizig (the Buddha of compassion of which the Dalai Lama is the human incarnation) and the right hand hill is Chana Dorji (this being the protector god of Bhutan). Collectively they are known as Rigsum (three hills). As you descend further you look down on the square yellow roof of the main monastery/fortress, Namgay Dzong. Spread around the dzong are the buildings of the Indian Army dating from the visit of President Nehru - the Indian army has a presence in Bhutan ostensibly to protect the kingdom from possible invasion from China. Although part of the dzong is used by the Indian Army the central tower of the Dzong is still used by the local people. The old town itself is just to the north-west and is really quite attractive with traditional two storey shops and a post office. There is a large school in Haa. In the afternoon you should have time for a little exploration in the Haa Valley.

Overnight: Farmhouse Homestay, Haa Valley (Meals: BLD)

Day 11: Day walk in the Haa valley. Drive back to Paro, 65 km - 2 hours drive.

Today you have much of the day in the Haa Valley. Initially it is worth driving up to the very top of the valley for an overview. This takes about 40 minutes (11 kms) and is a very pretty drive. From here you will get really good views of Haa Valley itself as well as over to the west to some of the mountains near the Tibetan border.

Coming back down towards the town you take a spur road to Talung village which is 20 minutes on a rough road. This village is situated in a small side valley and it's a good idea to take the vehicles to the top of the village and then walk down through the houses for a look at a typical Haa village. You may well receive 'invites' into one or two of the farmhouses.

You can rejoin your vehicle at the bottom of the village and then drive the short distance to the bottom of a track for a nice walk up to Yongto Gomba, an ascent of 100 metres which takes about 30 minutes. Yongto Gomba is perched on a ridge overlooking the main valley and is one of the oldest monasteries in Haa, thought to have been built in the 15th century. From here you walk steeply down the hill, 30 minutes and 200m descent, through pine trees, to Yangtha village. This is a large village on the floor of the main valley. In 2001 they suffered a huge fire which destroyed 12 houses. Amazingly, the fire left the temple of the village perfectly intact. After the fire the King visited the people of the village and paid for the reconstruction. The new houses are built in exactly the same traditional style and blend in remarkably well. Return drive to Paro in the late afternoon.

Overnight: Hotel Olathang or Similar, Paro (Meals: BLD)

Day 12: Start the trek to Bumdra. Camp beneath Bumdra Monastery, 3,800m/12,467ft.

After breakfast you will take a short drive to the starting point of the two day Bumdra trek. Here you will meet your trek crew and ponies, and then begin following a little trodden trail up from Paro Valley. Your initial ascent takes you up through forest to reach a ridge then to a clearing from where you will be able to see back down the Paro Valley. Continuing up, you next reach Chhoe Tse Lhakhang temple, nestled in the side of the mountain, where you can rest and enjoy fine views of Paro beneath and the snow-capped Himalaya in the distance. The final stage is now ahead of you as you ascend through ruins and thick forest to a high, open yak pasture bedecked with chortens and colourful prayer flags. This will be your campsite for the night at around 3,800m/12,467ft. The altitude should not be a problem having been in Bhutan now for 10 days..

Above the pasture sits the seventeenth century Bumdra Monastery, hugging the cliff face. After a chance to rest and enjoy the spectacular views from the campsite you can walk up to the monastery and explore its many caves where legend has it that a thousand angels, or dakinis, once convened. If you have the energy, you could also make the 45 minute climb of Namgo La just behind the monastery. Its 4,100m peak provides a natural viewing 'platform' to enjoy the commanding vistas of the surrounding mountains and valleys.

Overnight: Camp (Meals: BLD)

Day 13: Trek to Taktsang Monastery. Return to Paro.

After a tough day of ascent yesterday, today is all downhill. After breakfast at the camp, you will begin your descent. Following the monks' winding path down through larch and silver pine you can take your first welcome breather on the conveniently located deck chairs at the small hermitage of Yoselang at 3,300m. Continuing down the path you will shortly reach Zangto Pelhri Monastery, from where you can peer over the side for your first fantastic views down to the golden roofs of Taktsang Monastery. From here it's a steep half hour down a rock hewn staircase to Taktsang - an approach that very few people experience to reach the famed Tiger's Nest.

The monastery is perched some 600m/2,000ft up on a cliff overlooking Paro Valley and was said to be where the legendary Indian saint, Guru Padma Sambhava, flew from Tibet on the back of a tiger to defeat five demons, who were opposing the spread of Buddhism in Bhutan.

If open, you will be able to visit the monastery before continuing down to reach the car park where your vehicle will be waiting to take you back to your hotel in Paro, and your last night in Bhutan.

Overnight: Hotel Olathang or Similar, Paro (Meals: BLD)

Day 14: Fly to Kathmandu. Transfer to hotel. Time at leisure.

On your flight back to Kathmandu there are fabulous views of the Himalaya in every direction. Try to sit on the right side of the plane for the best views. On arrival, you will be transferred to your hotel and the rest of the day is at leisure.

Overnight: Hotel Shanker or Similar, Kathmandu (Meals: B)

Day 15: Time at leisure. Transfer to airport. Depart Nepal.

Kathmandu, Asia's former hippie capital, has a wonderful mixture of crowded bazaars, Hindu and Buddhist temples, shrines and stupas, colonial and ancient architecture as well as more modern buildings. You could explore the bazaars and temple complexes of Durbar Square to best absorb the myriad impressions assailing your culture-shocked senses.

Later in the afternoon there will be a group transfer to the airport for your flight back to London.

Overnight: In flight. (Meals: B)

Day 16: Arrive London.

Our grading system

Hidden Valleys of Bhutan is graded as a Gentle/Moderate walking holiday, as described below.

Gentle

Trips within this grade typically mix sightseeing with easy-paced half and/or full day walks. On these trips, walks will be on relatively low altitude trails, for a duration of around 4-6 hours. On all of our Gentle graded trips, some ascent and descent should be anticipated, and there may occasionally be a longer walking day. Holidays within this grade generally use hotels and comfortable lodges although a few do have some nights camping.

These holidays are suitable for people who enjoy easy-paced walks in the British countryside or exploring on foot rather than in a vehicle.

Moderate

Holidays in this grade typically involve 5 to 10 days of walking or trekking. They will often venture into more remote country and can cross mountain passes. Altitudes though are still relatively low, going no higher than around 4,300m/14,000ft. Accommodation can include simple hotels, tea houses, lodges and camping.

Trip altitude

Important - please be aware that this trip involves travel at altitude. Whilst all our itineraries are carefully designed to optimise acclimatisation to high altitudes, participants on this trip are likely to experience some symptoms of being at altitude. The Dossier pack we provide when you book your holiday includes comprehensive advice on safe travel at altitude. If you require further information or advice on travel at altitude prior to booking please contact the office to speak to an experienced member of our team. Alternatively we recommend www.medex.org.uk as a good source of information.

This makes water from virtually any source safe to drink and significantly reduces the need for travellers to buy bottles of water wherever they are in the world.

Clients who are not given a free Mountain Kingdoms kit bag for their holiday (these are required for certain treks), will instead receive a free Mountain Kingdoms Water-to-Go bottle. These unique Water-to-Go bottles can also be purchased from us at a discounted rate.

Your accommodation

We will endeavour to secure the hotels named in the itinerary but if our first choice of hotel is not available we will book a suitable alternative of a similar standard.

Hotels in Bhutan

Please note that there is generally a shortage of hotel/lodge accommodation in Bhutan, especially outside Paro and Thimphu. Although we pre-book rooms as far in advance as possible, anything can happen and probably will, e.g. if the royal family suddenly has a visiting delegation, accommodation may be changed at short notice. Additionally, during peak seasons, it can sometimes be very difficult to secure not only the hotels/lodges we want, but also the single rooms we might need. In these circumstances singles may occasionally be asked to share but in such cases we refund any single room supplements that might apply. Given these conditions we will make every effort to secure any of the following hotels:

Hotel Shanker or Similar, Kathmandu

The Shanker is a 4* heritage hotel situated just a 10-15 minute walk from the tourist area of Thamel. It has an outdoor swimming pool, a spa and a lovely garden, plus a choice of restaurants and bars. Rooms are large, elegant and well-equipped. The hotel is a converted royal palace with a fascinating history which in recent years has undergone a thorough and tasteful renovation.

Phuntso Pelri Hotel or Similar, Thimphu

Despite its somewhat dark entrance hall, this new hotel is very well appointed, with custom made Bhutanese wooden furniture and good sized rooms. During busy periods, especially during festivals, we may use the Jomolhari Hotel, the Kisa Hotel, Hotel Gakyil, Hotel Osel or the Amodhara Hotel. These are amongst the best tourist class hotels in Thimphu.

Hotel Olathang or Similar, Paro

Originally built for the coronation of the Bhutan's 4th King in 1974, this attractive hotel stands on a hill overlooking Paro town. Rooms in the main building are set around a peaceful courtyard and there are also a number of cottages dotted around the spacious grounds. Decoration is typically Bhutanese with stripped wooden floors and colourfully painted walls. Rooms are well-equipped and the hotel has its own spa, international restaurant and bar.

Farmhouse Homestays

A selection of properties have been approved by the Tourism Council of Bhutan. They are located in gorgeous Bhutanese countryside, and this gives you the opportunity of seeing the daily life and traditions of typical Bhutanese families. The properties vary in size and age. Some are more than 200 years old, others only 20 years old. Regardless of age, they are all simple, but with bags of character. Meals, in some cases, can be taken with the family and the food is delicious - but go easy on the chillies!! Electricity is available in some of the homestays and all will provide hot water for washing. There may even be a hot stone bath to enjoy. Please note that if we have a full group, we may use two homestay properties.

Meal arrangements

13 x breakfasts, 11 x lunches, 11 x dinners. Bed and breakfast in Kathmandu. All meals in Bhutan.

Our 'Flight inclusive from' price is based on the best fare available at the time of printing. As airfares change on a constant basis, this should be used only as a guide price. Rest assured that, at the time of booking, we will endeavour to get the best possible price for the flights you need. Remember, the earlier you book the greater your chances of securing the best fare.

Flight inclusive packages booked through Mountain Kingdoms are protected through our ATOL bonding scheme.

The nature of adventure travel

Every effort will be made to keep to this itinerary but we cannot guarantee that things may not change, either before you travel or while you are away. By its very nature, adventure travel involves an element of the unexpected, particularly in more remote areas. A variety of factors such as adverse weather conditions, changes to local schedules and difficulties with transportation can all contribute to the need to make changes to the itinerary, often at the very last minute. Our Operations Manager and your Trip Leader will make every effort to maintain the integrity of the original itinerary and minimise the impact of any changes, but an easy-going and flexible nature is a real asset! Please note that all timings and distances given are approximate.

What our clients say

Having always harboured a desire to travel to Bhutan, but lacking the confidence to face the bewildering set of rules required to enter and stay in the country, we used Mountain Kingdoms to arrange the trip for us. Travelling as a couple, we joined a group of eight. The whole experience, from first contacting Mountain Kingdoms to arriving back from the trip, was excellent. Mountain Kingdoms adapted to our relatively late addition to the tour and gave sound advice as we prepared to travel. In-country, the quality of the itinerary was excellent and the expertise of the guides was incredibly impressive. We were looked after well, and they made sure we got the absolute most out of our limited time.

- Jamie, Bristol

It was well organised and all the stress was taken out of the holiday. The guide leader was probably the best guide we have ever had.

- Mr B Wilkins, Wiltshire

A fantastic way to explore Bhutan. We got a real insight into Bhutanese life by staying in the homestays and attending the local festival.

-Angela Sycamore

I have stayed in Bhutanese homestays and thoroughly enjoyed the experience. There were some that I would have chosen in preference to a 5 star hotel. I do however understand that this is a question of personal preference. Personally, I think having close contact with the local people is immensely more valuable than staying in a resort where you cut yourself off from the authentic experience of being in Bhutan. This walking holiday is designed to give you a better, closer look at the people and culture of the most important surviving Tibetan Buddhist country left intact.

-Steve Berry, MD, Mountain Kingdoms

Mountain Kingdoms - distinctly different

Truly independent

In an age where many so-called 'independent' travel companies have in fact been bought out by multi-national giants, we remain fiercely independent with all the benefits this offers our clients.

Value for money prices with an emphasis on quality

We are not in the business of cutting our itineraries and services to the bone to offer eye-catching cheap prices. We use some of the best airlines, and typically 3 or 4 star hotels in cities. We include the majority of meals and private transport for road travel. We use excellent equipment and appoint well-trained staff and leaders. Last year, over 98% of our clients rated their Mountain Kingdoms holiday as 'excellent' or 'good'. We are members of AITO and bound by their quality charter.

Complete financial security

You can book with us confident that your holiday has full financial protection. Flight inclusive holidays are financially protected by the Civil Aviation Authority under ATOL licence number 2973 and 'Land Only' holidays are covered by a bond secured with ABTOT.

No Surcharge Guarantee

Your peace of mind is important to us so we have a No Surcharge Guarantee on all Land Only and Flight Inclusive bookings. This means that there will be no change to the price of your holiday once we have confirmed your booking, regardless of fluctuations in exchange rates or fuel prices.

Award winning Responsible Tourism

We feel strongly that all our holidays should benefit local communities, protect the environment and respect local traditions, religion and heritage. You can read more about the charities we support and our Responsible Tourism commitments and initiatives on the following page or at www.mountainkingdoms.com.

Genuine small group travel

Almost all of our holidays have a maximum group size of just 12, plus leader. This provides more contact with your leader, readier access to off-the-beaten-path areas, greater interaction with local communities and a reduced environmental impact.

Loyalty Discount

If you have previously travelled with us we recognise your loyalty with a discount on future trips.

Booking your holiday - it couldn't be easier

Once you've chosen your Mountain Kingdoms holiday you can book online, call the office or complete and post a booking form which can be found in our brochure or downloaded from our website. If you would like to hold a place on one of our trips, whilst you make up your mind, please give us a call to make a provisional booking. This is a no-obligation, no-cost booking and we will hold your place until space comes under pressure or we need your decision.

Comprehensive information

When we receive your booking we send you a full trip dossier which contains details of visas and vaccinations required, a suggested gear and clothing list and lots of useful information. In fact, everything you need to know to give you peace of mind and allow you to prepare for your trip of a lifetime.

RESPONSIBLE TOURISM STATEMENT CLIMATE EMERGENCY PLAN

For over 33 years, Mountain Kingdoms has been offering people the chance to visit amazing places on this extraordinary planet. We now offer trips to all corners of the world, but we are conscious that inevitably our holidays have a detrimental impact on the world around us, and we want to do all we can to reduce our carbon emissions. We are a signatory to Tourism Declares a Climate Emergency, along with a growing number of like-minded, reputable tour operators. For more information, please visit www.tourismdeclares.com

From 2020 onwards, we will be focusing on how we can reduce the carbon emissions that our holidays produce, and how to counterbalance this carbon by supporting carbon offset measures. Here are some of our current and future plans to minimise the impact of our business as a whole:

Carbon Offsetting

Already doing:

- ✓ We have been offsetting carbon since 2007, but will be increasing our donations to the Ecoan tree planting project in Peru this year. This is with a trusted partner where the funds go directly to a project where the community plants trees on its own land.

Will do:

- ✓ We are working on making our carbon offsetting more accurate and targeted.
- ✓ In future, we will add to that a further estimate for carbon produced by hotels, local road travel, trains and internal flights to arrive at a carbon offset sum for each trip we operate.
- ✓ Carbon offsetting will be included in our holiday prices. For our Flight Inclusive holidays it will include the international flight and any emissions produced by inland travel and accommodation. Our Land Only prices will include the cost of offsetting emissions caused by inland travel and accommodation.

Reducing Carbon Emissions

Already doing:

- ✓ We already offer the majority of our customers a free filtered water bottle which means they can instantly cut down on their single-use plastic consumption. This will be an ongoing project.
- ✓ We already predominantly use locally owned hotels, but will continue to ensure that, where possible, we use these rather than multinational chains.
- ✓ We have joined the Tourism Declares a Climate Emergency initiative to stand alongside like-minded travel companies, to work together to initiate best practices to make tourism as sustainable as possible.

Will do:

- ✓ We will re-evaluate our flights to make sure we are using the most fuel efficient airlines with the youngest fleets and, where possible, direct flights for each trip.
- ✓ We will stop offering unnecessary optional flights – for example our Everest sightseeing trip.
- ✓ We will eliminate unnecessary staff flights wherever possible.
- ✓ We will look at minimising internal flights.
- ✓ We will be asking all our worldwide agents and suppliers to look at their own carbon footprint and encourage them to reduce it.
- ✓ We will promote our more low impact trips to give customers an informed choice.

As part of our wider commitment to Responsible Tourism, we will continue to support a number of charities with whom we have had a long standing relationship over many years. These include: Shiva Charity in Nepal (Ginette Harrison School), Simien Mountains Mobile Medical Service and Porter Welfare, as well as setting aside a sum for emergency disaster relief should the need arise.
